Getting Started > Vault Architecture

Vault is basically a client/server framework.

The diagram illustrates the Vault Architecture, divided into Server and Client components by a vertical dashed line. On the Server side, there are two cylindrical icons representing the 'Database' and 'File Store', both connected to a central rectangular box labeled 'Autodesk Data Management Server (ADMS)'. On the Client side, there are six rounded rectangular boxes: 'Vault Explorer', 'Autoloader', 'CAD Applications', 'Job Processor', 'Websaver', and 'Custom Applications'. Arrows indicate bidirectional communication between the ADMS and each of these client components.

Server Components

No parts of the server are customizable, and there are rules for how to get and set server data.
